

#youngtourism

This publication has been created within the Erasmus+ project "young tourism: be sustainable. be entrepreneurial. Be creative" (2015-2017). Students from five European schools discover the natural and cultural richness of different parts of Europe in order to promote them to young "tourists". In terms of "green" and regional tourism the tourists develop a sense of responsible citizenship. This project is brought to life through an intensive cooperation with tourism management offices and green enterprises. Due to their expertise the students learn practically about tourism management and promotional design. This brochure is the result of the second international conference in Hammarö/Sweden from the 9th to the 13th of May 2016. The partner schools: Hammarlunden in Hammarö/Sweden, Ursulinenschule in Fritzlar/Germany, IES Vegas Bajas in Montijo/Spain, Zespół Szkół Urszulanekich in Wrocław/Poland, Mehmet Çelikel Lisesi in Zonguldak/Turkey.
